$3.50 PER YEAR

Just a Little of This & That By W. E. W.

Historical
Today is one of importance in the history of this state, for starting today you pay one more cent on the gasoline tax; and if you car forty miles an hour—but no more—on open roads; and if you are going to get married a notice of intention must be filed and the posted three days previous to the event.

Always a Bumper Crop
We fall down many years in producing wheat, corn, oranges and lemons but we always have a bumper crop of speed maniacs, those who rock the boat and those who didn't know it was loaded with an ever-increasing bunch of those who thought they could play with fire and not get burned.

Worth While
If you go over on Euclid avenue you can get an idea of just what this column was driving at recently when it stated that installing lawn from the Santa Fe north to Twelfth street was necessary in order to get a real result on the investment being made by property owners and tax payers of the city.

The grading for the bridge path is under way and present indications are that a wearing service will not have to be placed on the path to make it ideal for horseback riding. Grading for the path has already greatly improved the appearance of the avenue. Soon a sign, "Our Bridge Path, Upland to the Mountains" or words to that effect, should be placed at Twelfth and Euclid where motorists can see it.

When the lawn is placed all along Euclid avenue from the Santa Fe north to Twelfth street, the city should place a small amount of lawn about the entrance to the bridge path, thus making it more attractive and inviting. If you draw on your imagination just a little you can see that those traveling the Foothill boulevard will immediately be impressed with their surroundings when they cross the avenue and will stop to admire its beauty and there will always be an ever present urge for those passing through on Foothill boulevard to come down into the city proper.

Circulation of a petition to have the lawn extended to Twelfth street instead of to Eleventh is the right move. The first investment by the property owners and cost of maintenance by the tax payers will not yield near the result to those paying the expense unless it is carried to the Foothill boulevard which carries the heaviest traffic of any highway in this section. Green grass in this country of magnificent distances devoid of anything green is a large part of the year, is an ever-impressive invitation to those who pass that way, to stop and remain as long as possible.

LARGE CROWD AT BAND CONCERT

Last night another large crowd heard a fine musical program rendered by the Upland band at the city park. An appreciative audience was in attendance. The seats were filled to capacity and on second avenue and D street automobiles lined the curbs along both sides of the streets.

Judging from the large attendance at the four concerts during July, there seems to be an ever increasing interest in the local band. Five more concerts will be given during the balance of the season. By request, a week from next Thursday, Fred Wilding promises to play selections from Ye Trovatore, including the Anvil Chorus and The Miserere.

NEW EXCHANGE IN FONTANA

Work on the new telephone exchange at Fontana is nearing completion. The new exchange is located on Perris avenue and announcement has been made by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company that it will be in operation on the week of August 21.

GRADING EUCLID FOR THE BRIDGE PATH PROCEEDING

EXPERIENCED HORSEMAN STATES SOIL ON EUCLID IS SUITABLE

Grading Nearing Nineteenth St. Today—If Wearing Service Not Necessary For Path Expense In Building To Be Greatly Reduced

Present indications are that the soil between the pepper trees in the center of Euclid avenue is such that surfacing with screenings or other material will not be necessary, in building the bridge path up Euclid.

During the week the street department under the direction of R. G. Manley, has been grading the space between the trees from Twelfth street north and today the work is nearing Nineteenth street. An experienced horseman who was in the city yesterday gave it as his opinion that the soil there would prove satisfactory.

Those interested in the bridge path are more than delighted with the results thus far, many being firm in the opinion that the grading of the path has improved the appearance of the avenue to such an extent that it is worth while even though little used as a bridge path.

Within a few days a publicity campaign is to be launched in California newspapers and magazines devoted to out door life, telling of Upland's bridge path, "From Upland to the Mountains."

A campaign here at home is also necessary to help in the improvement of Euclid. Weeds between the center pepper trees and the curb, as well as weeds directly fronting orchards along the avenue should be removed by property owners. The vast majority keep the weeds down, but a few, most of them non-resident, fail to realize that they are hindering making Euclid avenue famous by their failure to co-operate with their neighbors and city officials in keeping the avenue in fine condition at all times.

RARICK BUILDING LEASED FOR FIVE TEN CENT STORE

C. C. Pennington of Los Angeles Leases Building For Three Years—New Front To Be Installed and Interior Re-Decorated

A lease has been signed by which the Rarick building just north of the Hayman & Rogers Grocery at Ninth and Second avenue has been leased to C. C. Pennington of Los Angeles who will open a 5c and 10c store there as soon as the store building has been remodeled.

Mr. Pennington will remodel the store front, making it strictly modern and the interior will be redecorated. The lease was signed for three years.

Ontario Woman Asks $10,000 Damages In Suit Against Doctor

Damages of $10,000 are asked in a complaint filed in the superior court yesterday by Mrs. Laura A. Frisbee of Ontario, from Dr. C. L. Emmons, Ontario physician, for the asserted careless treatment of Mrs. Frisbee's arm, injured in a fall Aug. 4, 1926.

Mrs. Frisbee asserts she went to Dr. Emmons for attention, and was informed that the arm was partially paralyzed. In the hospital he attempted to pull the arm over her head, and advised her to attempt to exercise it she states in the complaint.

It was later learned that the arm was broken, but not until Dr. Emmons had caused her much pain by his treatment. Mrs. Frisbee states.

Attorney R. E. Hodge represents Mrs. Frisbee.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF EXPERIENCES

Retired Detective, Now a Resident of Cucamonga, Relates Ins and Outs Of Catching Bank Crooks—J. W. Mehl, Chairman Of Day

J. W. Mehl was chairman of the day at the meeting of the Lions Club at the Sycamores yesterday and introduced as the speaker of the day Jas. R. Quinn, crime detective for twenty-five years previous to his retirement. Mr. Quinn is now a resident of Cucamonga.

Mr. Quinn devoted the most of his talk to his experience in detecting crime in banks, stating that in many cases the details were worked out in a few days, while other cases necessitated months to solve.

Mr. Quinn devoted considerable time explaining the many details that enter in and always the human equation is the main feature, for detectives make it their business to know more about what people do, how and why they do it, than the people themselves realize. Mr. Quinn's talk proved most interesting as he recited the details of several famous cases he had been connected with during the years he was active in detective work.

Mr. Quinn stated that he believed the one cause of crime in this modern age is the fact that children and young people in general are allowed too much money by their parents and when the young people begin to earn money they find it impossible to earn enough to come anywhere near supplying their wants or what they are accustomed to, hence the result is that they plan a way on getting money without earning it.

Glenn M. Atwood gave a brief review of his trip to the Elks Convention at Cincinnati and of his visit to Lions' International Headquarters at Chicago.

Ray Norton has returned from his vacation at La Jolla, which he spent in fishing and lurking around the bathing beaches and admiring the bathing beauties. Ray is in much finer spirits and to impress it upon his mind that he can gain at home as well as at the beach, the past-president's button, which had been fostered, was presented him by Bert Foster. The presentation was most impressive. Dr. Foster stating that it gave him as much pleasure to present it as it did Mr. Norton to receive it.

Visitors of the day were Dan Richardson and Mr. Ford of Ontario, Den. John Mehl, Boyd Mathews and Earl Wenger furnished instrumental solos which were greatly appreciated.

A membership contest is to be under way soon prizes to be awarded at the district convention at San Jose.

NEW BRIDGE WILL SPAN SANTA ANA

Riverside County Lets Contract For $67,000 Bridge Over River South Of Upland En Route To Corona—Pontoon Bridge Now Serving Traffic

Within a short time those driving from Upland to Corona will not find it necessary to swing across the pontoon bridge in the Santa Ana river south of here as the Riverside supervisors have just let a contract to E. G. Perham, Los Angeles, for the construction of a new bridge to span the river on that route. The bridge will cost $67,000.

R. V. Leeson of Los Angeles is the consulting engineer, and the bridge will be completed before the winter rains.

Shortly following the washout of the old wooden bridge last spring, a pontoon bridge was thrown across the stream, which flood waters from the heavy rains had swollen into a river of considerable proportions. The washout broke off the only connection between Corona and Corona, and the latter town was completely isolated when the Arlington bridge also went out. Requests from the Corona and Corona chambers of commerce resulted in the immediate construction of the temporary pontoon bridge, which has served for three months and is the only one of its kind in the country.

EXCHANGE LEMON SALES MANAGER PEDDLES MORE THAN FRUIT

QUITE LARGELY "BUNK-UM" CLAIMS JOHN D. HOWE

Propaganda "Kiddin'" Lemon Grower Into Believing "F. O. B. Average Better Than That Of Many Recent Years" Just Dream Stuff

By JOHN D. HOWE

In the July 22, 1927, issue of the Upland News there appeared a statement by Mr. T. H. Powell, Exchange Lemon Sales Manager, the evident purpose of which was to tell the growers that we have had a good year on lemons, that we have all made money and that this remarkable showing is due to "dealer service effort backed up with consumer advertising" and the general sales methods and policy of the Exchange.

The article states we should close the season with "f. o. b. average better than that of many recent full crop years and better than last season's average, which was generally considered a satisfactory one, for normal lemon acreage."

Every time the Exchange gets in a hole as far as giving modern, up-to-the-minute salesmanship to the grower is concerned (and that is all the Exchange is for: to sell the growers fruit), some one from headquarters starts giving reasons why they are only making excuses.

The facts are, with the very favorable weather conditions the last two months, that the grower will not make thirty cents a field box on his crop allowing a cultural cost of fifty cents a field box; and that is what the grower is interested in primarily.

The advertising and dealer service departments may be all right—they doubtless encourage the consumption of lemons, but if the jobber and dealer and the organization get all the money the grower is not so altruistic as to have thin excuses shoved down his throat. Please bear in mind, we are willing to take all the facts, but we object to having our Sales Manager or anybody else try to spoof the grower and by articles of propaganda try to change the issue.

The real facts are these: The year 1925 we made money—got an average of better than $2.00 a field box to the grower. This was accomplished by very intelligent distribution of the crop, proper curtailment of shipments, complete harmony in the distributing committee and not a single month did the Exchange sell our fruit on first sale, for Red Ink.

Then 1926 came along and the grower found an average for the season of over 75 cents a field box less returned to him than was the average for 1925. Immediately letters came from the main office comparing the poor showing made in 1926 by the sales department with the year 1924 which was a bad year for us—not a word said about 1925—nor why they had not duplicated that splendid piece of salesmanship. Bear in mind, please, that the 1925 sales, including foreign lemons, was 15,073 cars and 1926 was 15,034 cars, practically the same. Had the 1926 crop sold as well as the 1925 crop, the grower would have received over $4,000,000 more for his lemons.

Then we start out in 1927 and for six months the average is so low that when we take a check around June first we find we have actually, as growers, not had a return equal to the cost to produce.

It was then high time to check up the selling, pro-rating and storage methods. This was done and with the aid of good selling weather, together with a rigid grading of the fruit we have had two months of satisfactory prices.

Now our contention is simply this: that the selling methods followed by the Exchange during 1927 and followed during the year 1926, are not economically sound, or the grower would at least re-

RUSH TO LICENSE BUREAU IS OVER

Upland Couple Among Those To Obtain License Yesterday Previous To New Three-Day Notice Law Going Into Effect—Many Obtain Licenses

California's old marriage law, whereby a license to wed was issued at the time of application, became history yesterday and for the next three days no marriage licenses will be issued in the state for today the new law which requires that a notice of intention be filed three days prior to the issuing of a license becomes effective.

The last couple to secure a marriage license under the old law at the office of County Clerk Harry L. Allison was Floyd C. Hawkins of Los Angeles and Corinne Burgess, of Huntington Park. They obtained their license shortly after 4 o'clock.

Seventeen licenses were issued in the county clerk's office yesterday, marking one of the biggest days in the history of the office.

Others who secured a license to wed included Harry M. Goddard and Hazel Hobbs of San Bernardino; Oral Dunlop and Lola M. Pendleton of Los Angeles; Christian M. Mortenson and Florence R. Hainey of Victorville; Carl Wennstrom and Betty Weber of Los Angeles; Leo J. Beck and Myrtle A. Leslie of Los Angeles; Clarence R. Rockoff of Crestline and Esther V. Swarthout of Del Rosa; Eugene Ernest Gass and Jewell Louise Browning of San Bernardino; Troy C. Garrett and Bernice McCoy of Barstow; Benjamin Hoover Bearss and Thirza Adele Stevens of Rialto; Dick Volk and Lura Smith of Solana Beach; Samuel E. Ross of Victorville and Pearl R. Frink of Norwalk; Richard H. Jordan of Baldwin Park and Georgia E. McNeely of San Bernardino; Walter T. Everingham of Ontario and Frances Wheeler of Topeka, Kan.; Charles B. Brix and Augusta Marcella of Los Angeles; Harvey Clyde Haldeman and Rubie Thelma Naylor of Upland; Nelson Collins and Nellie Mathews of San Bernardino.

Notice of Intention Must Be Filed
The new law provides that a couple must first file at the county clerk's office a notice of intention to wed. This notice is recorded in a book which at all times is open to the public. After three days, the couple may receive their license. The license must be applied for not later than 30 days after the notice of intention has been filed. Otherwise, a new notice of intention must be filed.

The law was passed by the legislature principally for the purpose of halting hasty or "gin marriages," it being believed that if many couples have three days to "think it over" they would change their minds about marrying, preventing what might otherwise be an unhappy marriage.

Branch Bureaus Are Closed
No licenses to marry will hereafter be issued at any place in the county except in the office of the county clerk. It has been the custom to issue marriage licenses at Needles and at Barstow and at the home of a deputy county clerk on holidays. The latter practice will also be abandoned due to the new law.

Receiving his cost to produce and a fair margin for himself. Giving due allowance to wind, decay, cold weather or what not, the fact remains that the sales methods followed do not bring the grower a profit and that articles and propaganda sent out from headquarters will not explain away the fact that the job of selling lemons with a profit to the grower is a failure.

Allowing for the high prices at the present time and taking our total field boxes picked from November 1st to June 1st the grower is entitled to know the facts. He will not receive for his fruit in Pools 3, 4 and 5, thirty cents a field box above his cost to produce (figured at 50 cents a field box) no matter what these statements from headquarters purport to be the facts.

With an 85 per cent control of all lemons in our own hands there is no reason why a single car load should ever be sold below cost.

CITRUS PROPERTY TOTALING MORE THAN $90,000 SOLD HERE

FORTY ACRES OF BEST CITRUS GROVES SOLD TO LOCAL MEN

C. S. Lawson and Norman Lawson Buy 20 Acres On Wilson Ave. From S. G. Wilson—Thompson Bros. of Pomona Purchase 20-Acre Eichelberger Grove On Wilson Avenue

Two sales of citrus orchards totaling more than $90,000 were closed here this week when C. S. Lawson and Norman Lawson purchased of S. G. Wilson five acres of lemons and 15 acres of navel on Wilson Avenue above 18th Street.

The second deal was that of Thompson Bros., who purchased 20 acres of navel of H. M. Eichelberger, the acreage being located on Wilson Avenue.

All of the citrus groves are rated as foremost among groves in this section, their records showing excellent returns over a period of years.

The Lawsons and Thompson Bros. are experienced orchardists, having operated here for several years.

Both deals were negotiated by Leigh Thompson.

LINE DISPUTES BRING BATTLE

One Claimant Restrained By Injunction, Another Gets Arrested In Row Over Ownership Of Strip Of Land

Culminating a dispute over the ownership of a three-foot strip of land running between the ranch of M. N. Van Fleet on Archibald Avenue, Cucamonga, and the roadway, a warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of W. H. Rupp, owner of the adjacent territory, on charges of destroying the public highway.

The warrant against Mr. Rupp was issued yesterday following an injunction obtained by him on Saturday to prevent M. N. Van Fleet from cutting down any of the remaining trees in the three-foot strip bordering his property. The injunction was said to have been occasioned by Van Fleet's action in chopping down several of the trees on one side of the property, and causing, according to the claims of Rupp, a draft.

The Van Fleet property consists of two lots formerly a part of the 20-acre tract owned by Rupp. They are surrounded on both sides by the tract. Ownership of the narrow strip fronting on the avenue is claimed by Rupp, Van Fleet and the county.

The warrant for Rupp's arrest was sworn to by J. H. Klusman, district road superintendent. It is said to be occasioned by the destruction of Van Fleet's cement driveway and lawn parkway during the family's absence at the beach, by a gang of laborers alleged to be working under the orders of Rupp.

Rupp deposited bail for $50 pending trial, which will take place next week, and which will determine the ownership of the disputed territory.

HERE'S A SCOTCH JOKE FOR MOTORISTS

Here's a Scotch story a tourist brought into the Touring Bureau of the National Automobile Club: The other day two Scots, standing by the side of a heavily traveled thoroughfare, saw a purse in the roadway and made a simultaneous dive for it. Before they reached it they had been struck and killed by a passing auto. The coroner's jury brought in the justifiable verdict, "Death from natural causes."

SAN ANTONIO PARK TO BE PRESENTED

Plans Proceeding For Monster Get-Together Picnic On Evening Of August 11th

Upland's municipal get-together on Thursday evening of August 11 promises to surpass any like event in the history of the city all because it is the official introduction to the public of San Antonio Park.

San Antonio Park came into being through the activity of the membership of the Upland Business and Professional Woman's Club, the ladies stating they would mother the idea. Immediately members of the Upland Lions Club, headed by Attorney A. W. Burt, came forth with the statement that they would father the same plan.

The park up to that time had been a mis-owner. No one knew who owned it, although the Pacific Electric was supposed to own it. Investigation developed that the Pacific Electric had never paid taxes on the property, hence the investigation proceeded with the result that it was shown to belong to the county. The county in turn decided it to the city and the city agreed to develop it so that it could be used.

Since that time city councilmen, the Upland Chamber of Commerce, members of service clubs and the people in general have been interested in the development of the park and on Thursday night, August 11th, it is to be officially presented to the people.

That the event will be a success is guaranteed through the fact that the City Council and Chamber of Commerce have named "The Four Horsemen" and see that it gets over big and these "Four Horsemen" are headed by Jas. A. Dinger as director general, "Jim" doesn't like the job, exactly, but as he lives here and believes every man should do something for the town he lives in he consented to take on the responsibility.

"Horseman Jim" has stated confidentially to several of his friends that if any of the other horsemen fall down on their respective jobs and get in a jam as a result, he isn't going to help 'em a bit. If Horseman Linkey scorches the baby beef; if Horseman Plum spoils the coffee; and if Horseman Atwood burns the beans; and the crowd begins to mill threateningly about these horsemen and they shout as of one voice, "My Kingdom for a Horse," a terse reply is coming back, "You fellows can walk."

But the Three Horsemen claim they know how. I. J. Linkey states that he doesn't care to have it go down into history that he was the man who scorched the baby beef, while Floyd Atwood is just as firm in the statement that never will his great, great grandchildren read of him that he was the bird who burned the beans. To bring up the rear in all these statements is one by Harry Plum. Harry states that he may not know how to play golf and he may not add up his score like he adds up your grocery bill, but he knows that he knows that his nose knows Coffee Bean. Therefore the coffee should be excellent.

It was planned at first that Fred Wilding, director of the Municipal Band, should be one of the Horsemen, but when Head Horseman Jim heard from reliable authority that Director Wilding couldn't direct his car into the garage without tearing a door off, he issued a command to the effect that horses were scarce and the few he had he didn't care to take a chance with.

But Director Wilding has an excellent program for that night which will be played at San Antonio Park instead of Municipal Park, and just because Head Horseman Jim wouldn't let him ride a horse, he's going to have his band play "The Four Horsemen."

The picnic supper starts promptly at six o'clock. You will be furnished with barbecued baby beef, beans and coffee, but you must bring your own cups, spoons, plates etc. If you eat beans with a knife and drink coffee from a saucer, include them in your equipment.

Be sure to come. The date is Thursday evening August 11th.

RALPH E. SWING CITY ATTORNEY, STATE SENATOR, SPEAKER HERE

STATE BUBBLE TO FLATTEN UNLESS CHANGE IS MADE IN PROCEDURE

Making Expense Fit Income Is Unheard Of At Sacramento, According To State Senator Swing, Who States Rough Going Is Just Ahead Of Us

Ralph E. Swing, City Attorney of Upland, was speaker of the day at the noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at The Sycamores, A. H. Johnson being chairman of the day.

Mr. Swing is also a State Senator from this district, and he devoted his talk mainly to state affairs, dwelling upon the tax problem as well as the operation of state business in general.

"The time is going to come," said Senator Swing, "when we must get back to a cash basis. We are operating our business today on a credit plan. As long as we produce abundant crops each year, well and good, but if ever the wheat, the corn, the cotton, the orange and lemon crops prove a failure the same year, we are going to be in deep water."

Referring to state business, Senator Swing stated, "Up at Sacramento we have a reckless plan of spending money. It appears to me that the idea is to create all the commissions possible, then endeavor to find some method of getting enough money to finance them. Instead of first finding out the income, making the expenditures fit the income, then proceed on a business like basis—that's the last thing they think of up there."

"The expense of the state has increased fully 300 per cent but valuations have only increased about 200 per cent. I'm calling your attention to these things to prepare you for the flattening out of the bubble which is bound to happen unless we mend our ways. The economical plan of procedure of our grandfathers is what we need in this state and if we don't adopt it very soon, we will certainly be forced to do it before many more years roll by."

Kenneth D. Allen will build a one-story frame residence on San Bernardino avenue, to cost $2,500 and a garage to cost $125.

Albert Hutchinson will erect a one-story frame residence on East Tenth street to cost $2,500.

A jury to hear the trial of Andy Mazzola, of Cucamonga, charged in two counts with violation of the Wright act and also of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was selected in Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner's court yesterday.

The regular jury panel was exhausted, and it was necessary to procure a special venire of 15 before the jury was selected. The contributing charge against Mazzola is based on the activities of Benito Santo, who asserted he was employed by Mazzola to operate a still.

The jury includes J. M. Britt, M. G. France, J. Royal, L. L. Dorland, Gustave Gramlich, Robert N. Burke, W. N. McConnell, J. O. Greusel, H. L. Martin, Ben Osburn, W. A. Pfunder, Henry C. Hornburg.

Maintain American Ideals

That there is a growing sentiment in this nation against unnecessary high taxes, the constant passage of innumerable laws and ordinances, the establishment of new boards, bureaus and commissions and extension of government control over the individual and private business, is evidenced by comments appearing all over the country.

At recent elections the people cast a decided "No" vote against measures which pile up expense or restrict individual activity. Editorial comment on the situation is widespread. It appears in country daily and weekly newspapers, in metropolitan dailies and in magazines of national circulation. Public officials openly express opinions on the subject which would have been deemed political suicide a few years ago. The underlying thought seems to be that there has been a tendency to drift away from our original form of government which gave us the spiritual and individual freedom that made possible our enormous material prosperity. Commenting on the situation, Collier's Magazine says editorially:

"Not many people believed in the creed written by Thomas Jefferson 151 years ago.

"His principles became the ferment that for good or evil made us what we are.

"The rules of conduct laid down by the idealistic Virginian form a doctrine which cannot be forgotten or ignored. They are simple and but two in number:

"1. All men are created equal and are endowed with inalienable rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

"2. Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

"Brief and plain, but all the libraries of political philosophy could have said nothing more moving. Washington's military talents made it possible to test the truth of Jefferson's principles. The importance of the initiative you show cannot be underestimated, but bigger than any man is the America which liberates every child to go as far as his native talents will carry him.

"A century and a half have demonstrated the worth of freedom to us and to our country."

During 1926 the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad reports 153 automobiles crashed into the company's trains. It is believed that approximately 99 per cent of these contests were won by the trains.—Detroit Free Press.

Alien Population Increase

(Azusa Pomotrope)

Where are we getting our new population (beside that delivered by the stork), and how much of it is there? The commissioner of naturalization answers. His records show that the total admissions of foreigners from July, 1926, to April, 1927, were 152,324. For a year ending May 31 last, the total was 173,250, or about 555 a day, not counting Sunday.

The largest number, about 6,000, settled in New York—they included 1,500 Italians, more than any other nationality, with the Poles second, and the British third. Indiana received 413 new foreign-born citizens in the year. Nevada, Virginia and Vermont received none.

The United States can probably absorb new citizens to the extent of 11 1/2 or 14 per cent, as now arriving, but there is no general demand for an increase in this per cent. On the other hand, while there have been cases of cruelty in separating families and rejecting men and women that are objectionable only on technical grounds, the general operations of the immigration law are satisfactory. There has been no demand for labor, speaking comprehensively, that exceeded supply. If we need more labor relief it might be found in the modification of restrictive laws that sometimes serve to prevent well grown boys from working manually. These laws had their origin in the early abominations in the coal mines and sweat shops. Protection is needed against a return to former conditions, but there is no sense in penalizing boys who are big and strong enough to work and ready to bear a hand. There is nothing better for them than work.

"Only Wait"

Of there comes a gentle whisper o'er me stealing
When my trials and my burdens seem too great,

Like the sweet voiced bells of evening softly pealing,
It is saying to my spirit—Only wait.

When I cannot understand my Father's leading
And it seems to be but hard and cruel fate,
Still I hear that gentle whisper ever pleading:
God is working; God is faithful—only wait.

When the promise seems to linger, long delay-ing,
And I tremble lest perhaps it comes too late;
Still I hear that sweet-voiced angel ever saying,
Though it tarry, it is coming—only wait.

When I see the wicked prosper in their sinning,
And the righteous pressed by many a cruel strait,
I remember that is only the beginning,
And I whisper to my spirit—Only wait.

Oh, how little soon will seem our hardest sorrow,
And how trifling is our present brief estate;
Could we see it in the light of Heaven's to-morrow,
Oh, how easy would it be for us to wait.

—Rev. A. B. Simpson.

Who Am I?

(Louis Varnum Woulfe)

I am the symbol of independence, righteousness, and freedom; a product of the loom, an evolution of the handiwork of a woman, the outgrowth of an American need.

I am on the high seas, on the house-tops, in the home and dear to the heart of every citizen of the United States. But whether on land, fluttering to the breeze, or on sea, the safeguard of humanity, I ever awaken a love of country.

I have stood in times past, and will always stand, for deeds of heroism, for sacrifice of life, for perpetuating all that is highest and noblest in republican government.

I am the cause for preparedness, the source of national pride, and the emblem of a united people forever.

I will never cease to be just what men and women of patriotic thought and action make me—the standard of a mighty country, the banner that has inspired the greatest songs and the best of prose and poetry.

To some I am Old Glory—the Star Spangled Banner. To others I am The Stars and Stripes—The Red, White and Blue. To everyone, I am the guarantee of personal liberty everywhere—

I AM THE AMERICAN FLAG.

The Child and the Park

(Orange Post)

After all the arguments for a city park have been considered, it will be found that one carries more weight than all others. That is the relationship of park recreational activities to the childhood of the city.

People with children and people with sincere interest in the welfare of children (and this classification, we trust, includes the whole population of Orange) will place above all other considerations the benefit that children may derive from such a project as we have before us.

These benefits, fortunately, are established by official figures. The Anaheim city park, in a period of one year, had an attendance of 15,000 at the children's playground where supervised recreation is carried on. That was in addition to an attendance of 25,000 at the swimming pool, the latter also largely of children.

That these activities were beneficial is shown by the figures of the county probation office which testify that probation office cases from Anaheim decreased eighty-five per cent over a six-month period after the establishment of the park, while cities of the county without such activities held their normal percentage of juvenile delinquency.

The Battle in the Cornfields

(Covina Argus)

Citrus growers are well aware that the very life of the groves depends on insect control. While the fight has been unending and expensive, it nevertheless has resulted in control, which is more than can be said as yet of the battle against the corn borer in the middle west of the United States and Canada.

The federal government has hundreds of men in the field, thousands of dollars a day is being spent for material and equipment in a fight that has a battle line longer than that of the Battle of the Argonne. Last year many hundreds of acres of corn were burned to the ground in this attempt to stop the borer's progress, which is estimated as an advance across the corn belt of about five miles a year. Only total incineration, or the subjection of heat of more than 120 degrees Fahrenheit kills the borer. Thus far chemicals and parasites have been unavailing, although the government is experimenting. Great areas have been reduced to ten per cent of a normal corn crop. The corn borer has caused the price of hogs and cattle to soar, as most of the profit from corn comes from turning it into meat. The fight has only begun.

We have the black scale always with us, but the government of the United States, many years ago, saved the citrus industry from annihilation, and no doubt science and patience will do the same thing for the corn growers of the middle west. Meantime, they have our sympathy and interest. The age-long fight of man against insects has brought everyone into the ranks in every country since civilization began. The loss of a crop anywhere in the world adversely affects all of us.

Sure Cure For Loneliness

(Los Angeles Herald)

Here is something to think about—a prominent man remarks, "Only ignorant persons get lonesome." Those who have enough of interest stored in their minds, those who want to learn and develop, never get lonesome, because there is always something to think about that leaves no room for dejection.

There are so many interesting things in the world that there is not time enough in the average life to learn anywhere near all that one should know. In addition are the vast realms of knowledge which is not absolutely necessary, but which, nevertheless, would tremendously enrich any mind which seeks to acquire it.

Original thoughts—how few cultivate them? Gossip concerning daily happenings, often trivial in nature, fills too many lives completely. The mind follows the same channels over and over again.

Being starved for something new to think about, is it any wonder that people become lonely? If they would only permit their minds to branch out into really new avenues of thought, there would be constant surprise and pleasure at the result, and loneliness would soon be unknown.

ICE MAKES SUMMER COOKING EASY

Let the refrigerator give the cook stove a summer vacation. Dr. Martha Manning, household refrigeration expert, urges.

Using an abundance of ice in the preparation of food will eliminate needless drudgery for the housewife.

And ice, generously used in serving food, makes the difference between eating and dining at the home table. Cracked ice, tinkling in frosty glasses of cooling drinks and shaved ice, sparkling from finely flavored food, are a wonderful antidote for hot weather fatigue and a spur to appetite.

Chilled salad greens, crisp and full of their fine original flavor and iced celery, radishes, olives and sea foods are taken for granted in more comfortable homes.

But the everyday foods need icing. The morning apple sauce, prunes, grape fruit and orange juice are delectable chilled and nondescript if they are tepid. Prunes, which should be served cold and unsweetened, have fallen into an undeserved unpopularity because they so often appear sticky and warm.

Many of the most attractive and healthful summer desserts need never go near the cook stove. Blueberries, blackberries and raspberries are at their best when piled into tall glasses, mixed with shaved ice. Grapes, plums and other small fruits are served in Italy either with shaved ice or in ice water, which heightens fruit flavor to rich perfection.

Among the favorites in refrigerator cookery are ice box cakes, which may be made with any hot sauce, such as butterscotch, chocolate or lemon, or stewed berries. A pudding mold should be lined with split lady fingers, or finger lengths of stale sponge cake or bread. The hot sauce and cake are arranged in alternate layers until the bowl is full. The cake should be compressed by fitting an inverted plate into the bowl, putting a weight on the plate, and letting the cake stand in the refrigerator twenty-four hours. Then it may be removed from the mold, sliced and served with whipped cream or custard sauce.

20-FOOT HIGHWAY ALONG BASE LINE COUNTY PROGRAM

Concrete Strip Will Be Constructed On North Side of Road At Its Eastern End—Lytle Creek Section Also To Be Improved

Program for the widening of Base Line, between Palm avenue, Highland, and Waterman avenue, San Bernardino, was outlined this week by Supervisor John Anderson Jr.

"The work will begin immediately, as soon as the highway department can make its arrangements to handle it," said Mr. Anderson.

The plan for the present fiscal year calls for the widening of the highway four feet on the north of the present pavement. This will provide a 20-foot highway. The new strip will be six inches of concrete. The Warm creek bridge will be rebuilt and widened.

Improvement for the future calls for either an additional four feet on the south side of the present pavement or the re-surfacing of the 20 foot pavement.

Whether the work for the future can be undertaken next year will depend upon the finances of the road district, for in Mr. Anderson's program of road widening is also Highland avenue, between the San Bernardino city limits and City creek.

West Base Line Project Assured

Work on west Base Line, in the Lytle creek and Rialto bench region, is also scheduled for an immediate start. A dip will be constructed across Lytle creek within the next two months and after the rainy season begins, so that existing irrigation pipes can be moved, work will be started on the change in the alignment of the road on the bench.

Cucamonga-Alta Loma News

Do You Really Mean It, Girls?

Just a jolly bunch of fair buccaners indulging in the pirates' favorite sport, "Walking the Plank," to amuse the crowds at the Tournament of Lights celebration at Newport-Balboa Beach. Extraordinary preparations are being rushed for this year's "Million Dollar Spectacle," and the Motor Transit Stages are preparing to handle the large crowds which will throng this popular bay and ocean resort during the three-day celebration, July 30, 31 and Aug. 1st.

Following the reception, the happy young couple motored to Descanso, where they spent a week and then motored north to Fresno where they will make their home. Mr. Green, who was employed a year ago at the Kincaid Home Market in Cucamonga, is now manager of a market in a Safeway store in Fresno. Mrs. Green has many friends in Cucamonga and vicinity where she attended the South Side Grammar School, then graduated from Chaffey High School and attended Junior College.

Plan Delightful Ocean Trip

North to San Francisco, thence to Seattle and on to Alaska, is the delightful vacation trip now being arranged by Mrs. Mary J. Reid and daughter, Miss Gertrude Reid, who plan to leave August 14th for the north. They will be gone a month, a caretaker being in charge of their home place and grove during their absence.

Arrive at Wyoming Ranch

Word received today from Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morse advises of their safe arrival at their ranch home near Gillette, Wyo., after being three weeks on the way, having left here July 1st. The accident to their car near Fillmore, Utah, delayed them at that point eight days. Other stops were made at Yellowstone Park, then the crossing of the Big Horn mountains, 10,000 feet high, and the balance of the trip to Gillette was made without mishap.

Hostess To Club

A merry round of auction bridge games proved a delightful summer diversion for the Alta Loma Bridge Club, who were guests of Miss Gertrude Reid on Tuesday afternoon at her spacious home in North Hellman avenue. Adding to the attractiveness in decorative effect, were numerous bowls of magnificent zinnias in a variety of brilliant colorings, with other choice seasonal blooms. Two tables only enjoyed the tourney, as a number of members were out-of-town. Miss Leonore Rennie of Missoula, Mont., was a guest of the afternoon. A dainty and refreshing collation was served by the hostess as the afternoon drew to a close. Mrs. Franklin Roth will entertain the club at the next meeting, Tuesday, August 9th at her home in Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Whitney, with their daughter, Miss Luella, and son Jack, enjoyed the weekend at their cabin on Big Bear Lake, returning home Monday morning.

Mrs. J. H. Williams is spending several days this week with her friend, Mrs. Patterson, in Los Angeles, whose daughter, Miss Ellen Patterson, is very ill in the hospital.

Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, of Base Line, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. W. Hatch, at Santa Monica Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beckley, of Hermosa avenue, entertained recently at their home, old family friends of Mrs. Beckley from Phillipsburg, N. J., her former home, Dr. H. L. West and Mrs. West and their brother, Mr. John Carpenter, who are touring thru the west, and from Los Angeles came to spend several days with their old friends here.

Mrs. L. J. Thomas and daughter, Louise, who have returned home from Riverside, are planning to join their son and brother, Rex Thomas on Tuesday, who is vacationing at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. William Klusman of Los Angeles, were unexpected guests welcomed at the home of their brother Henry G. Klusman and family on Tuesday, the visitors being on a vacation motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Larson and children motored to Balboa Beach on Wednesday, where they enjoyed the day on the sands.

Mrs. W. H. Horst, of Long Beach accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong and daughter Miss Fanny of Los Angeles, are expected at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Dziel of Hellman avenue.

Miss Leonore Rennie, of Missoula, Mont., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Gertrude Reid, of Hellman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Foster have returned to their home in Hellman avenue, Alta Loma, after a week's visit at the home of the former's cousin, Judge Taft and family, at Santa Monica.

Arthur Relph, of Alta Loma Garage, who has been laid up for the past six weeks at the Community Hospital recovering from severe injuries received in an automobile crash on the desert near Victorville, is expected to be able to return to his home in Lomita Drive this week, although being compelled to return to the hospital for further treatment of a broken wrist bone.

O. P. Whitney reports that his mother, Mrs. F. W. Whitney, who was so severely injured in an automobile accident at E. H. street and Euclid avenue several weeks ago, is progressing so favorably her attending physician thinks she may be able to be taken to her Ontario home, with the aid of a stretcher, the early part of next week.

The latest report on Wednesday as to the condition of Albert Campanella, who has been seriously ill at the Community hospital, is that the crisis is believed to be past and that he is now considered on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Quinn of Ramona avenue, are the proud parents of a nine pound baby boy, born three weeks ago in a Los Angeles hospital, and all doing nicely.

The same day, her brother Albert, arrived from Los Angeles for a two weeks' visit with his relatives here.

Mrs. Robert McKennett, of Los Angeles, who has been visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roland McKennett, in East 10th street, has returned to her home in Los Angeles, after all had enjoyed Sunday at their cottage at Balboa Beach.

Mrs. S. M. Roberts left Monday to enjoy the cooling breezes at Redondo Beach for a week, expecting to return the end of the week with her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Peterson (nee Helen Todd) when she returns to her desk at the Cucamonga First National, after a two weeks' honeymoon vacation.

Mrs. Gregory Potane, of Archibald avenue, has been confined to her home suffering from a peculiar accident when on Monday while placing ice in her refrigerator, a large piece fell and struck her foot in such a way as to break a blood vessel in the ankle, the mishap incapacitating Mrs. Potane for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kimball (Maud Markham) now of Los Angeles, have moved into their newly completed home at Santa Monica.

True Sporting Spirit

The sad-looking man at the corner table had been waiting a very long time for his order. At last a waiter approached him and said: "Your fish will be coming any minute, now, sir." "Oh, yes," said the sad man, looking interested. "And what bait are you using?" — Stanford Chaparral.

COUNTY ORDERS
MOJAVE BRIDGE

Proposed Structure Across the River At Victorville To Cost $50,000 — Will Serve Bear Valley Traffic In Winter

Formal order for the construction of a new bridge across the Mojave river at the Victorville narrows was announced yesterday by Supervisor C. S. Crain of Victorville. The bridge will cost approximately $50,000.

Howard L. Way, county surveyor, is at work on the plans and specifications for the bridge, and the call for bids will be issued within a few weeks.

The bridge is to have a span of 240 feet and will replace the existing structure which was built in 1891. "The old bridge is dangerous," said Mr. Crain. "It is absolutely necessary to replace it. Work on this structure has been postponed from year to year, but it cannot be delayed longer, even though the county is facing heavy expense for replacement and extensive repairs to bridges damaged during the storms this year." Likewise serves the Lucerne valley and other portions of the desert.

MRS. FOSTER AT HOME FOLLOWING ILLNESS—

Mrs. Bert Foster, who has been in San Antonio Hospital for some time, returned home this week and has gone, on advice of her physician, Dr. A. L. Webber, to Los Angeles to consult a specialist. She has improved rapidly during her stay in the hospital and it is hoped the improvement will continue.

Dr. Foster is very grateful to the many kind individuals and organizations for their gifts of flowers and other cheery services which added to the doctor's kindness made such a pain possible. Mrs. Foster wishes to express her appreciation of every one's goodness and the care of the whole hospital force.

BRIDGE TEA AT WOMAN'S CLUBHOUSE—

Despite the hot weather on Wednesday, guests attending the bridge tea given at the Woman's Clubhouse that afternoon, enjoyed a delightfully cool time in the big reception room. Large electric fans were in constant motion, and throughout the afternoon ice cold punch was served to the players. At the close of the bridge tourney, ice cream and delicious home made wafers were served.

This is the first of a series of social affairs to be given during the summer by members of the Woman's Club, and success of the initial entertainment is very largely due to Mrs. Isaac C. Baxter who was responsible for the arrangements. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. David Foss, Mrs. Clair Kirk, Mrs. Bruce Moore, Mrs. Wm. Atchley, Mrs. Faye Rodgers and Mrs. Hubert Manker.

Among those who won table prizes were Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mrs. E. S. Bishop, Mrs. George Crill, Mrs. Wm. Avery, Mrs. Thomas Nichols, Mrs. Arthur Pehl and Mrs. W. H. Tuttle. The table prizes were given by the club and were salad plates of dainty colored glass. Hostesses making up their own tables, also gave individual prizes and among those winning them were Mrs. F. W. Palmer, Mrs. J. E. Sargent, Mrs. A. J. Hall and Mrs. A. J. Colgan.

SOCIETY and CLUB

CLUB SOCIAL

WELL ATTENDED—

Members of the Business and Professional Woman's Club staged a very successful party last Tuesday evening when they invited the service organizations of the city to join them in a community social in the Woman's Clubhouse. An entertaining program was given and the hit of the evening was undoubtedly a skit entitled "Summer in the Country," put on by Mrs. Edna Swan, Mrs. Clyde Daner, Mrs. Mark Bailey, Miss Lilian Roth, Miss Le Ola Lee, Ike Steiner and Floyd Chambers.

Speaking for their different organizations, interesting talks were given by P. C. Buffington, City Council; P. H. McQuillen, Rotary; Norman Lawson, Lions; H. C. Naylor, Business Men's Association; J. E. Sargent, Chamber of Commerce, and Ernest Stone, 20-30 Club, all of whom expressed their appreciation of the community idea and assured the business women of their desire to co-operate with them in every way in the furtherance of civic interests.

Mrs. Una R. Winter, president of the Southern District of the B. P. W. C. spoke on what the organization stood for and the benefits to be derived through its membership. Mrs. F. H. Manker spoke on the early history of the club and told how it had grown from five members to over a hundred at this time.

Miss Eunice Williams, niece of Mrs. R. C. Williams, accompanied by Mrs. George Cassell, gave three charming vocal solos which were heartily enjoyed. Miss Dorothy Williams and three of her pupils, Miss Helen Samuels and the Misses Eileen and June Steiber, gave a beautiful interpretation of the Slave Dance. With the lighting effects and the weird Russian music, the dancing was one of the most pleasing features of the program.

An amusing stunt put on by two members of the 20-30 Club caused much laughter. Walter Hastings made an excellent crystal gazer and answered the intricate questions put by Edward Thudum in an accomplished manner.

In a short speech by Mrs. J. E. Sargent, president of the Woman's Club was expressed the feeling of co-operation and friendship existing between the two prominent women's clubs of the city.

Guests were received by the president and the ex-presidents of the club, numbering Mrs. R. C. Williams, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Manker, Mrs. C. V. Calhoun and Mrs. M. H. Bailey. The admission fee was a penny an inch for the measurement of each guest's waist and fat people were especially welcome. The social committee were very pleased with the financial receipts and the general success of the party. It is with sincere regret they have learned that invitations did not reach all on their list. Much publicity was given to the event through the columns of the Upland News and a general invitation extended to all interested in the club activities.

The club is planning another party next month. The proceeds derived from these affairs will be devoted to the expenses of the Community Cottage which is kept up by the business and professional women of the city.

HAMILTON-SEAPY WEDDING WEDNESDAY—

Henry C. Hamilton and Mrs. Luella Skinner Seapy, both of Ontario, were quietly married Wednesday afternoon at the home of Dr. R. C. Stone, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Upland, who performed the ceremony.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS LOHRY—

Miss Esther Lohry was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given Friday evening when Mrs. Melvin Dinger entertained several of her friends at her home on East E street, Ontario.

During the evening when the guests were busily engaged in hemming tea towels for the bride-to-be, Miss Lohry was called from the room and on her return found a much be-ruffled, dainty, pink parasol filled with many gifts of all kinds. Amid much fun and laughter the packages were unwrapped and each present duly admired.

The hostess chose a pretty color scheme of pink and white and baskets of zinnias and asters were used in effective decoration. Delicious refreshments were served to the following guests, Mrs. Robert Klindt, Mrs. Cecil Myers, Mrs. Austin Jones, Mrs. Lee Bigley, Mrs. Chas. Haughs, Mrs. Robert Spencer, Mrs. Frank Meeker, Mrs. Ray Gauge, Miss Bertha Lohry and Miss Ethel Reagan.

Miss Lohry is an Upland resident and has been connected with the Ontario-Upland telephone force in the local office for some time. Her marriage to Mr. Roy Vance of Ontario will take place in the early fall.

GRAPE COMMITTEE PLANS CAMPAIGN

Clearing House Committee of District 8, California Vineyardists Association, Prepares For Membership Drive

At a luncheon meeting of the Clearing House Committee of the Eighth District, California Vineyardists' Association, held at Carder's Inn Wednesday noon, Chairman Charles Latimer outlined the dual purpose of the association and discussed at length the furtherance of the drive for new members for the organization.

"The two purposes of the association," Latimer said, "are, first, to investigate the marketing and use of grapes and their by-products, and, second, to further an extensive advertising campaign that will greatly increase demand and consumption."

The clearing house committee, he said, will furnish all grower-members with detailed information on market conditions and the most approved methods of shipping and disposal of their crops. This committee, he stated, will also aid in the proper distribution of cars during the shipping season by furnishing information to railroad representatives. The price control branch of the association will be administered by Donald D. Conn, managing director, who will be vested with authority to limit shipments to each market, in order that a fair return may be assured the growers.

"The 1926 car allocation plan will again be used this year," Latimer said, "with the clearing house committee sitting as an advisory board."

The plans for a state-wide membership campaign were outlined in detail by Director E. L. Simmermacher, who stated that the eighth district had been cut up into eight divisions with a member from the committee acting as a chairman of each division campaign organization, which will be made up of grower-members.

The following divisions and their chairmen were announced at Wednesday's meeting:

District 1—Bounded by the Southern Pacific Railway, the west line of the county, the mountains on the north, and Archibald Avenue on the east; K. D. Blaikie, chairman.

District 2—Extending south from the Southern Pacific Railway and bounded on the west by the county line and on the east by Archibald Avenue; Benton Ballou, chairman.

District 3—Extending north from the Southern Pacific Railway to the mountains, and bounded on the west by Archibald Avenue and on the east by Etiwanda Avenue; L. A. Weller, chairman.

District 4—Extending south from the Southern Pacific Railway to the county line, and bounded on the west by Archibald Avenue and on the east by Etiwanda Avenue; Rupert Dishman, chairman.

District 5—Riverside County and that portion of San Bernardino County north to the Santa Fe Railway and east to the Delez road; M. James Kennedy, chairman.

District 6—Extending north from the Foothill Boulevard to the mountains and bounded on the west by Etiwanda Avenue and on the east by Bialto Avenue, excepting the Fontana Farms; George Johnson, chairman.

District 7—All of Fontana Farms and the Bloomington district; R. L. Nougaret, chairman.

District 8—Devore and Verdemon and all territory contiguous to San Bernardino city; H. H. Vermilyea, chairman.

Safeway Stores In Big Expansion Program

CENTER—Architect's drawing of Safeway Stores. How big Los Angeles office building, warehouse and bakery will look with the completion of new $500,000 addition.
UPPER LEFT—Safeway trucks loading merchandise at warehouse.
UPPER RIGHT—Safeway trailers, loaded with foods, leave the warehouse twice daily.
LOWER CENTER—Five-story office building and warehouse, to which new addition will be added.

Ground is being broken this week for the new $500,000 five-story addition to the present warehouse and office building of the Safeway Stores, in Los Angeles, which will embrace one of the largest and most up to date bakery plants on the entire Pacific Coast.

As announced by Edward Dale, vice president of the great grocery system, and general manager of the 450 stores operating throughout Southern California, work on the new fireproof, re-inforced concrete structure will be rushed to completion in order to care for the constantly increasing demand for bakery products from every section of Southern California.

When completed the new plant, together with the adjoining present structure, will embrace close to 240,000 square feet of floor space. The basement of the new building has been provided with a series of cold storage rooms for the storage of perishable merchandise, and is so designed that the amount of refrigeration in the various rooms may be diminished or increased depending on the season of the year.

A feature of the new bakery will be the largest traveling oven in the west, with a total length of more than 100 feet. The dough enters at one end and emerges in loaves at the other, undergoing the process of baking while traveling slowly from opening to exit. Approximately $165,000 worth of bakery machinery will be installed.

The building plans and engineering features were designed by William Mellema, Los Angeles architect and consulting engineer.

"The lower three floors," declared Dale today, "will house the mammoth Safeway Stores bakery plant, the third floor also will be located the dough room. On the second floor the bread will be moulded and passed into the final steam-proof box, in which temperatures are automatically controlled with a view to producing the most perfect bread obtainable on the Pacific Coast. The two upper floors will be devoted to storage purposes.

"Aside from this new building there are now in course of construction on the five-acre Safeway Stores property modern fire sheds 200 feet in length by 50 feet wide, for the exclusive handling of fruits and vegetables destined for the hundreds of Safeway markets in the Southland; and a garage and carpenter shop of brick, fireproof construction.

"The impressive growth of the Safeway Store system during the past year has made these improvements imperative. This progress simply reflects Safeway high standards and a sincere wish to serve the food buying public honestly and well. Our 450 partner-managers operating the Safeway Stores

COUNTY SUES TO COLLECT ON 3 BAIL BONDS

Suits were started in superior court Monday morning by the State of California for the collection of $2,000 in bail posted for the release of three prisoners from the county jail who were charged with felony offenses. The suits were filed by Chief Deputy District Attorney C. O. Thompson.

One of the suits named T. P. Delegal and Lucy S. Delegal, Valco, as defendants. The action alleged that on May 4, 1926, Mr. and Mrs. Delegal signed the bail bond of Jim Scholey, held in the county jail on a grand larceny charge, to the amount of $500.

Failed to Appear

Scholey was ordered released from custody by order of Superior Judge Charles L. Allison after he had signed the bond. Scholey was ordered to appear in superior court for trial on Nov. 15. He failed to make an appearance and Mr. and Mrs. Delegal failed to notify the court within 20 days afterwards the reason for his non-appearance. It is asserted.

Mr. and Mrs. Delegal also are named defendants in another complaint filed in superior court for the collection of the $500 bail bond of R. D. LeMond. LeMond was being held in the county jail on a felony charge and his bail set by Judge Allison at $500. The couple is said to have refused to pay it, when LeMond failed to make an appearance.

Forman Bond Wanted

Suit also was started for the collection of the $1,000 bail bond of George Forman, held in the county jail on July 12, 1926 charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He was released from custody on Aug. 3, 1926 by order of former Justice Jerome B. Kavanaugh following the filing of a $1,000 bail bond by the Metropolitan Casualty & Insurance Co., of New York.

Forman failed to appear at the preliminary examination later in August, 1926. It is charged in the complaint, and his bail was ordered forfeited. Since that time both the district attorney's office and the justice court has been making an effort to collect from the casualty company.

The suits all were in an effort to force the payment of the delinquent bonds. It is said by members of the district attorney's office.

In Southern California have, under this new plan of giving loyal employees a substantial return on their sales, personally contributed in large measure to the increasing popularity of the Safeway Stores.

The WHIRL of FASHION

"USEFUL," A SYNONYM FOR THE PRINTED FROCK

The SUMMER MODE PASSES

BY BARBARA WINGFLOW

NOT FORGETTING THE TRIM, TAILORED SUIT

BLACK AND WHITE FOR A SUMMER AFTERNOON

THE FLANNEL COAT—A VOGUE OF THE MOMENT

Paris Presentations Are Indicative of a New Trend — Summer Fashions Rule, But Briefly.

WEARING sheer fabrics, revealing, if we may, in the picturesque large hat; delighting in white, the pastels and flower tones, availing ourselves of summer offerings in a very general way; we are, nevertheless, thinking of fall. That this is so, the occasional choice of a new frock will prove, for we insist that it be in the mode of the future rather than the fashion of the present. We are influenced by a subtle, but insistent spirit of change.

For some weeks yet we shall wear summer clothes, and they will adhere to the summer mode, with the exception of an occasional venturing into advance fashions. For the vacation yet to come the choice will be a clever blending of the present and the future, for we are permitted that leeway. Inspection proves that only the charm of what is to come makes it possible for us to give up what we have, it is a most intriguing mode.

It has stood, very definitely, for chicness, and has been characterized by feminine details that have made it friendly to many who really suffered when boyish and mannish models were dominating fashion. The latter, really smart on many types, were generally unkind to the woman who needed softening details, and needed them badly. It is pleasant to be assured that fall will see a continuation of this feminine trend.

A Mode Passes In Review

For immediate purposes the summer mode must be considered. The pleasure of anticipation is ours, and it heightens the pleasure of realization. We are willing to witness try-outs, if they seem radical, keeping ourselves well within the limits of the assured. We can be very happy doing so, and at the same time we can give our sanction to such details as seem most worthwhile, realizing that by so doing we help shape the mode which is forming, and upon which we must, later, depend.

A straightline silhouette, characterized by movement and grace—this is the first fundamental. A tendency to flares, in the new models, presages change, but straight lines will not be eliminated wholly, no matter what may be offered, for they will be demanded, and fashion is too wise to refuse to meet any general request on the part of the public she serves. Undoubtedly she is, herself, in favor of width, and flared width, at the hem.

Grace is lent to the somewhat deceptive straightness by pleats of many kinds and by drapes, the former in tailored spirit, the latter for purposes that have to do with afternoon and evening apparel. Tiers and flounces and uneven hemlines add in the general deceptiveness; lines traveling whichever way they will best serve the wearer. They may be up and down, round and round, or they may essay diagonals. Fall promises us apricot lines.

Fabrics Are Sheer And Supple

Silks and crepes and chiffons and voiles and Georgettes, these are the materials that dominate the frock mode. Silk and flannel and very lightweight velvet—the latter for evening wraps—are the coat choice, although some velvet is used in the daytime mode—for trimmings and even for jackets. Laces are popular, and net appears in the evening. Brief garments and sheer fabrics are fashion's concession to sultry weather.

Colors are consistent with the season, and that means a very great deal of white, the pastels, the jewel, flower and fruit colors, some of the more distinct shades in printed materials and a very generous showing of black, and black and white. The amazing popularity of black is significant. It illustrates a trend that has been, every season, important, but that is, apparently, becoming more pronounced. Black, unrelieved, black with white or beige, black with color it is an important fashion note.

There is no excuse for an ill-dressed woman, these days. There are fashion advisers in all the large shops, and the small shops are specialists in what they sell. They know what the tall woman or the short woman, the thin woman or the plump woman or the really stout woman should wear. They know lines and colors, they understand the effectiveness of detail, and they appreciate the fact that they are abundantly blessed with a variety of material for the purpose in hand.

Variety Characterizes Details

When fashion tells us that sleeves may be long or we may go sleeveless, that necklines may be high or square, round or V-shaped, that waistlines may be normal or lower—even higher than normal, and we may be bloused, capped or boleroed at will—can we fail to be appropriately dressed? The fact remains that there are still flagrant examples of what the well-dressed woman should not wear, but the situation is improving.

Short skirts are responsible for many sartorial crimes, sleeveless dresses, also. So many colors and so many lines and so many details lead to fussiness, which is something the well-clad woman avoids. It is not easy to achieve an appearance of simplicity and at the same time accept a fair proportion of the fascinating variations that are so appealing—to not do so is to proclaim oneself a fashion heretic, and to no purpose.

From all the many offerings certain things stand out as the backbone of this well-liked summer mode. Not details, necessarily, but actual fashions, many of them vogues from their inception, holding a place in public favor far longer than even their originators and sponsors hoped. Seldom, if ever, has there been so wide a variety of accepted fashions that have been so generally liked and so staunchly supported and maintained.

Dominating Everything—The Ensemble

No matter what its purpose, whether it be frock or coat, hat or shoes, gloves, handbag or scarf, any article under consideration is part of an ensemble, within an ensemble. Matching and harmonizing and correlation of parts is the business of the day, and no matter how extensively you may be dressed, or how lovely every item of your apparel may be, it is just failure, if it does not achieve an ensemble effect.

In general the word "ensemble," as applied to fashion, means that there is harmony throughout the costume. That materials and colors and lines and trimmings are consistent, one with the other, and one item does not overshadow the rest, but is a part of the whole. It may not, however, lose its identity in the process of serving the costume. Distinctiveness depends upon the keeping of that identity.

Suits And Coats Are Smart

The coats of summer are simple affairs, quite consistent with the spirit of the mode, yet smartly appealing in their simplicity. Flannel or some novelty material is the choice for sports wear, and silk or satin for dress coats. They are straight of line and their elaboration is of the restrained type hard to copy, yet seemingly inelaborate. The coat illustrated is typical of the useful daytime wrap. It is charming in the pastel tones.

For her who can wear it, there is nothing smarter than the short-coated suit—the illustration proves this assertion. This particular model is carried out in jersey in a light tone that is repeated in the blouse, which has a small-patterned print in two shades of the color against a white background. One of the notable successes of the season has been the jacket dress that is, in reality, a suit made up of dress and short jacket.

Black And White Dominates

Proving the effectiveness of black and white, which really needs no proof, we have the simple sports costume made up of a straight line dress with pleated skirt and velvet jacket, the latter black, the former white. No smarter costume could be conceived for the onlooker, while sports shoes in place of sandals and the removal of jacket and hat would transform the spectator into a player.

Black and white is again featured in the afternoon dress of silk with its sun-ray pattern. It is a one-piece affair in two-piece effect and permits the pattern to do all the work of trimming. The hat matches the frock. A really stunning ensemble isn't it? The printed chiffon, with its hem ruffle and bolero jacket typifies another vogue of the season—the sheer printed frock so easy to wear and equally easy to look at!

The two-piece suit is promised for fall, meaning the skirt and coat, which demands a separate blouse. This brings the overblouse into the limelight and already there are some delightful models, both long sleeved and sleeveless, in the shops. Materials are luxurious.

A Glimpse Inside the Home

ONCE again we approach the season of the year when fashion, so far as our wardrobe is concerned, is at the crossroads. And while fashion is making up her mind which road she will take, we are free to consider the many things that have nothing to do with her whimsicalities. We have passed the let-down period that always follows a busy winter, and are ready to do constructive things—the house presents the most logical field for our endeavor. The house, like its mistress, must have a wardrobe, and there are points of resemblance between the two. There are fashions in house furnishings as in coats and dresses, and the accessories of the house wardrobe change as do those of the costume. There is the same fine relation between furniture and the little things of the room that there is between the suit and the headwear and footwear, the gloves and handbag that complete it and make it a costume.

Nearly every different home-keeper has a preference for some special type of furniture, for certain woods, for certain colors in drapes and curtains. But she will do well to avoid stiffness and the "set" appearance that results from too much matching. Consider the ensemble of present day clothes fashions. Its parts are harmonious, but they do not match with exactness, and the result is much better than this is so. It is the same in the home.

Like the costume, the well-furnished room is an ensemble. Like the costume it is composed of ensembles within ensembles, all, together, resulting in perfection. Accessories may be subordinated to fundamentals, to a certain extent, but they do not lose their identity —not even in the smallest detail. Contrasts not only exist but are, many times, imperative, that hidden beauties be accented, and sameness, or monotony, be eliminated.

In the dining and breakfast rooms, and in bedrooms, as well, we find matching pieces. Table, chairs, serving table and buffet or beds, chiffo-robe and chiffonies, dressing and night tables and chairs are really major ensembles. Against them, as a background, the housewife builds the costume of the room they occupy. Rugs, curtains, hangings and small bits of decoration are chosen to harmonize, each with the other, and all with the furniture.

In what we are pleased to call the living room there may be ensembles—a davenport, wing chair, and a third chair, oftentimes or there may be a single easy chair with a matching footstool, or there may be a "love seat" and a chair. Each group is an ensemble, all three groups may be used in the same room, if it is large enough, and fit nicely into the completed ensemble. Such groups form a background and other pieces both supplement and complete.

With these pieces chosen, at least a start has been made. There remains the matter of tables—both large and small, the latter of the "wandering" type that can be moved to suit one's convenience. There are the lamps and the floor coverings and the fireplace accessories, and there are hangings and curtains and potteries to consider. There is the mantelpiece to dress, and, if the walls demand them, pictures to be chosen and correctly hung.

Incidentally, many of the walls in modern homes are so decorative, in the finish that has been used, that pictures seem out of place. A tapestry, perhaps, but not always that, if the room is not to look fussed up. There is both distinction and difference between the room that is livable and the room that is overcrowded—spaciousness, or an appearance of it, is as necessary as the lived-in look that does not exist, if the room has a bare look—one sees it in many modern rooms.

An easy chair with footstool and side table—book-laden—and a lamp, set just right for the occupant of the chair—that is a homey sort of ensemble, and toward it the visitor gravitates, naturally. Study the value of lamps in relation to the room—they brighten dark corners, they invite to easy chair and book, they are supremely decorative. Study the value of mirrors—they increase space and open up vistas of charm in dull corners—study them!

Study your rooms as though you were a stranger looking at them with a critical eye. Rearrange your furniture with the group idea in mind—make everything serve a purpose of usefulness and of beauty as well. Smarten the room with color, not too much, but enough. Consider your windows as though they were frames, dress them attractively, then set a mirror to reflect a delightful view.

THE RAMBLER

By J. H. H.

Recently two business men were discussing the annexation of Upland to Ontario. Both men are property owners. One has been living here for many years and always fought strenuously against any suggestion of annexation. Both now feel that Upland has accomplished all it has set out to do, and that the two towns should become one large community. Both men agreed that probably 80 or 85 per cent of the people here are in favor of annexation. They further agreed that it would be an advantage to both communities. Whatever differences formerly existed, there is no longer any reason why Ontario Colony should not now be one city. Just to see how the sentiment of the people stood twenty persons of Upland were asked how they felt towards annexation. Without hesitation nineteen expressed their willingness, and one was doubtful as to the benefit, but would be willing to abide by the majority. For a long time the street lights on Second avenue looked like a phalanx of bald-headed Ethiopians. Now they are again members of the White Guard. They have received a bath. The ground is being prepared for the construction of several new buildings on the 5-acre Fuller tract on Foothill boulevard and Fifth avenue. This morning a gang of men burned off the weeds, preparatory for the survey of the new subdivision. Several new stucco houses are soon to be erected on the ground by Charles F. Eppler, the contractor.

SNAKE TRIBE IN LOCAL FORESTS IS ELIMINATED

Few Rattles Seen Now In the Mountains—Building of Cottages Forcing Them Back Further Into Hills

According to an estimate made by persons visiting the San Bernardino mountain and desert districts yearly, the number of snakes seen seem to be dwindling each season, with the once deserted mountain sections rapidly becoming thickly populated.

Comparatively few snakes have been reported this season as compared with summers of several years ago, when it was very seldom that a motorist could go out on the desert or to the local mountains without seeing several snakes, as a rule ones that had been run over, stretched across the road.

Buildings Bring Rout

Experts say that the snake tribe is gradually being forced back into the mountains, to get away from the horde of home builders and pleasure seekers. There is also a number of snakes killed in this district each season, and this fact also has a tendency to decrease the tribe, no matter how fast they multiply. It is very seldom anyone passes a live snake with out at least making an effort to kill it.

A decade ago several then secluded canyon districts of the San Bernardino mountains were literally alive with snakes. Now these localities have been built up and even one snake would surprise the residents.

The same thing is reported on the desert, although there are not nearly as many killed in that district as in the mountains. This is due largely to the improvements going on in the desert and the raising of extensive fruit and vegetable crops in some districts.

One Poisonous Type

There is only one type of poisonous snake in this section of the state, that being the rattler. The rattlesnake in this district though has seen its best days and is rapidly vanishing. Some rare specimens of rattlesnakes, of the desert and mountain type have come from the district in the past years. There are several other types of snakes in this section but their bite, if properly taken care of, is no worse than a scratch.

Notwithstanding the fact that the number of snakes around here is rapidly decreasing, campers are still warned to be on the lookout for them, especially any stray rattlers. Only one person in this district has been reported bitten by a rattler this season, but prompt first aid followed by skilled medical treatment took care of the bite.

WORLD PRESS SECRETARY IS ONTARIO GUEST

Omar Gray, field secretary of the Press Congress of the World, was the guest of honor Tuesday night at a dinner given at the new Hotel Ontario to friends of Mr. Gray and officials of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association by a former president of the association, Crombie Allen, editor of the Daily Report.

Mr. Gray has owned and edited the Sturgeon, Mo., Leader for 39 years. He is now on his ninth trip to California, and says he likes it better every time.

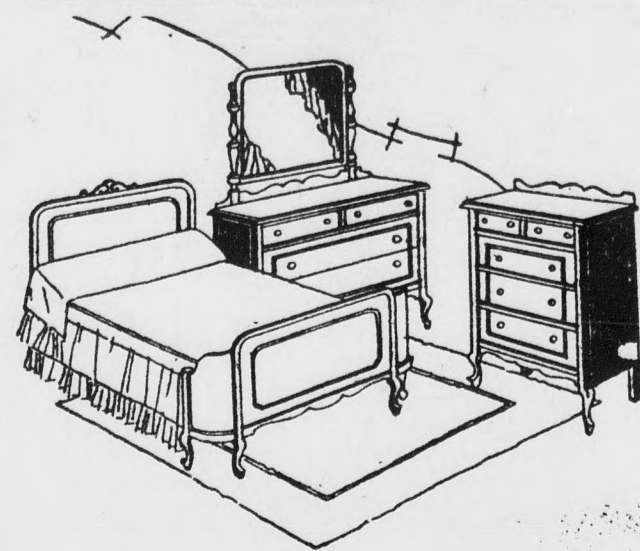

Mr. Allen gave the dinner in appreciation of the many courtesies shown to him by Secretary Gray when he went to Switzerland last fall as the representative of California to the Press Congress of the World at Geneva, whither he went to invite the congress to come to California in 1932 when the Olympic games will be held in Los Angeles. H. S. Webster of the San Bernardino Sun, president of the association, was unable to be present on account of illness.

Among those present were Ben H. Read, executive secretary of the association; J. F. Craemer, Orange News; E. E. King, Pomona Progress-Bulletin; T. Larson, Claremont Courier; W. E. Westland, Upland News; F. S. Hosfelt, Colton Courier; John King, Hemet News; H. L. Allen, The Daily Report; Ewing Herbert, Brown County World, Hiawatha, Kan.

Short talks were made by Mr. Gray, Mr. Herbert and Mr. King. Telegrams of regret were read from officials of the association unable to be present. All expressed their delight with the new hotel and congratulated Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Benedict on having such a fine hotel.

PRINCES OF THE SPORT OF KINGS IN SUNSET DERBY

Fifteen of the most famous jockeys in the United States, and riding some of the speediest horses now competing in the sport, provide a thrilling race as a climax to "The Sunset Derby," the First National picture produced by Charles R. Rogers and shown at the Granada Theatre Ontario, Sunday and Monday.

Racing scenes for the picture were made on the track at Ti-Juana, Lower California, during the height of the racing season at that club, and all the leading jockeys and their mounts were engaged to stage a race for the movies.

William Collier, Jr., featured masculine player, who has made so many racing pictures that he can ride almost as well as a professional, participated in the races. Mary Astor plays the featured lead opposite Collier, with Ralph Lewis, Lionel Belmore, David Kirby and others in support. Albert Rogell directed the picture from an adaptation of "The Sunset Derby," a short story by William Dudley Pelley.
